

AIR TRAFFIC CONTROLLING ON A WHITE WATER RAFT

OR: LIFE AS A COORDINATOR

Tulsa, Oklahoma

Ericka Jeffords

Sean Presley

Meghan Murphy

ADAPTING

So say you're an air traffic controller and you find yourself on a white water raft. You aren't familiar with the activity, but your experience as a navigator can guide you safely down the river...right?

TRAINING

New team members

Set training?

CONFLICT

CONFLICT - As coordinator, part of your role is to ensure that the team is running cohesively. Having conflict between team members can be detrimental to your program and your clients. A united front is crucial to ensuring that clients aren't triangulating and that the best decisions are being made. We're all here for a common purpose, but we're all also human.

POLICY

Know your policies!

FRUSTRATION

Ever have days like this?

CHALLENGES

What other challenges are you facing?